1980 Worlds of Fun Volume 3

Before we begin on our trip around Worlds of Fun in the year 1980, let's take a close look at some of the gracious warm-hearted people we'll meet along the way.

"Here I come on the run with a burger on the bun!"

"Anybody seen my pet frog?"

"Welcome to Busch gardens."

"When I'm behind

No matter what kind of transportation John Graves engineers it carries the name of Worlds of Fun.

the wheel of the tug, I'm in control."

"Welcome to Vorlds of Fun my darling!"

"Hi boys and girls! OK, how many of you remember Whizzo from T.V.?"

"And what kind of toothpaste did you say you use?"

Food Service has 32% fewer cavities.

"Ha! That guy just paid 75¢ to find out where the bathrooms are. Little does he know they give away free maps in Scandinavia."

Don't push your luck Chris, you were lucky to get these three to pose with you.

"220 to base, we have evidence of a 10-55 (intoxicated driver)—Hey wait a minute this is my truck!"

"Here Skip, come on, come to Mommie."

"We seem to have some what of a sticky situation on our hands."

"Zinger's down again!"

"Somebody give me some toothpicks. I hate Mondays."

"Wait my profile is much better!"

Sometimes we get so caught up in the mechanics of things it's hard to put everything in perspective, but when we stop and take a look around it really is "Worlds of Fun."

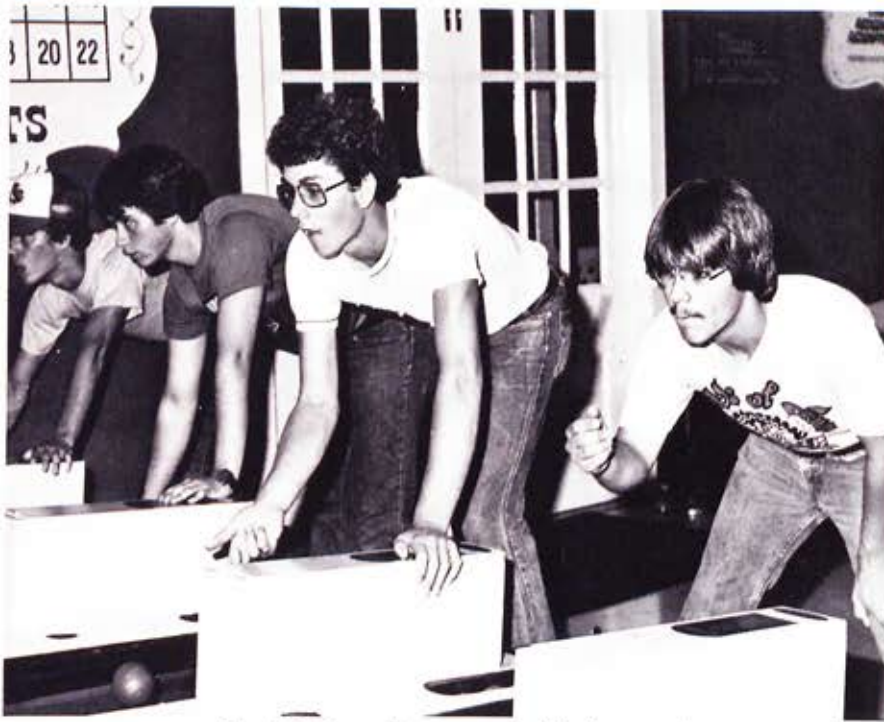

"I don't plan on being here all night. This is just a precautionary measure."

"What do you mean where's my name tag??? I can't even find my Pants!"

Not only can they deal out 100's of burgers a day, keep the grounds spotless and safe and keep the rides running smoothly; they also play a mean game of skeeball and softball, and are fantastic oddballs.

It's all in the wrist, or maybe it's the mouth.

"Hey Rover, Bullwinkle, is that what you picked for your prize? What Why

"We're number one!" Oddball Olympic Champs (l to r) Jack Comer, Jeff Kuhn, Terri Marsh, Jody Mazza, Lester Hosman.

"I'm only here for the the rays and refreshments."

"Hey we're just over here kicking out the jams!"

"I told myself before I left, just buy one thing, but you know me!"

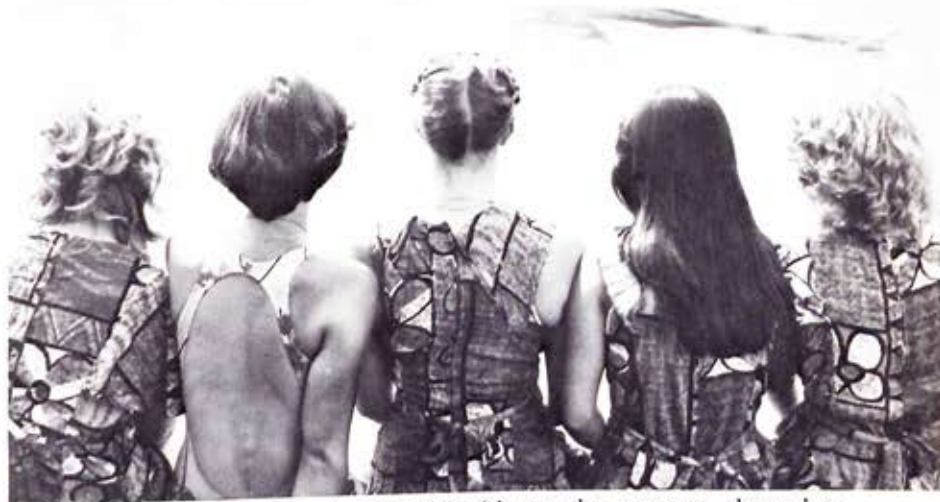

"Arrr, Arrr, Arrr!!!"

"I know my heads in here somewhere."

These are the people and the activities that we will miss when the season draws to a close. What we thought of as long, hot summer days will suddenly become the wild and crazy times at Worlds of Fun.

"Come on Skip, we turned our best side to the camera, show her yours."

"Anyone for a little fishing before work?"

"Show me the way to go home. I'm tired and I want to go to bed. I had a little . . . ooops!"

1. Lamar Hunt, Chairman of the Board, gets time off from his busy schedule to enjoy one of the many rides at Worlds of Fun. "Look mom, no hands!"

Administration

Worlds of Fun Administration is known by some as, "Those guys who get to sit around in the air conditioning all day and do nothing," but better known by most as the hard-working businessmen who keep our park working and functioning as it should.

3. Lee Derrough, Vice President and General Manager.

2. Jack Steadman, President of Worlds of Fun, seems extremely pleased with the park's progress.

4. Dave Busch, Assistant General Manager

Group Sales

Marketing and Group Sales prides itself in being the department responsible for the increase in attendance each year. Several departments would argue this point, but they would also agree these people contribute more than their share when it comes to promoting events and bringing quests into the park.
